AMONG FRIENDS—One Tom Turkey who's pretty sure to be around to enjoy the day after Thanksgiving is this one showing off his feathers to children at the McKinley School in Casper, Wyo. When many of the youngsters expressed a desire to view a real live turkey, the teacher Lois Rissler obtained Tom, a personal pet on the Garnett ranch near Casper. Tom, naturally, was quite willing to make the trip, as long as it was to a school and not a poultry shop.

Centerville Club Of Carrollton Observes Fiftieth Anniversary

CARROLLTON—The members of the Centerville Woman's Club celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the club at a program which followed a covered dish luncheon Thursday at the home of Mrs. Allen Field with Mrs. A. A. Schmitt and Miss Rose Schellon as assisting hostesses.

The club was organized with ten charter members and two of the original ten survive. These two, Mrs. Eldred Thomas and Mrs. Jessie Hobson, were present Thursday and were especially honored with gifts of gold leaf pins.

Each guest at the table had a place card and a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums. The anniversary cake, which graced the center of the table, was white with decorations of yellow miniature roses, bells and a tiny heart on which the numeral fifty was etched. Around the cake in yellow was written the word Centerville.

Honor Founder

Mrs. George Daniels had charge of the program in which special honor was given to the late Mrs. L. A. Dickerson, the so-called mother of the Club. Mrs. Daniels sang to the memory of Mrs. Dickerson, her song being "Among My Souvenirs," at the conclusion of which she read verses and quotations which had been given her by the late Mrs. Dickerson and were known to be her favorites.

Mrs. Daniels sang "Roamin' In the Gloamin'" in honor of Mrs. Thomas and "Silver Threads Among the Gold," honoring Mrs. Hobson. Mrs. Hobson, one of the charter members, read an original poem concerning the 50th anniversary and Mrs. Ivan Beebe read a poem composed by Mrs. Hobson several years ago and entitled "Old Centerville." Mrs. Hobson won the gift prize which is given at each meeting.

The Christmas party of the group will be December 18 at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Ostermann with Mrs. Florence Ostermann as assisting hostess. A Christmas gift exchange will be held and the identity of the secret pals will be disclosed.

Medical Society To Meet
A film will be shown at the meeting of the Greene County Medical Society which will be held December 10 at the Colonial Room of Day's Cafe. The annual election of officers will be held during the business meeting.

Attend Farm-City Program
Mr. and Mrs. Dale McConathy, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Bucklin, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Suttles and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thiebaud all of Greene county went to St. Louis

Lions View Film

Dr. P. A. Dailey showed a film put out by the American Medical Association and endorsed by the Greene County Medical Society at the Thanksgiving dinner meeting of the Carrollton Lions Club held in the Knights of Columbus hall Thursday evening.

The film, which was entitled "The Medicine Man," dealt with the spurious claims of food fadists and quacks who hope to sell their worthless products to the public. The same film had previously been shown Tuesday by Mrs. P. A. Dailey at a meeting of the West End Reading Circle.

The group voted to meet for December 4, and then to attend a church service in recognition of the simultaneous evangelistic services which are opening in Carrollton Nov. 30 and continuing through December 5.

Carl Moushon who was a guest of the Carrollton Lions Club at Boy's State this year gave a resume of the affair.

Dr. W. Hopkins and Lyle Moushon were guests of the club Thursday evening.

MODERN GREEK DRAMA

NEW YORK (AP)—Modern Greek dramas are to be shown on Broadway for the first time by James S. Elliott.

Elliott last year took the first American acting company to Athens for performance of Greek classics, and while there became intrigued by the dramatic possibilities for U.S. audiences of works by contemporary Greek authors.

He plans to present three short plays in a triple bill: "Requiem" by Nikos Kazantzakis; "A Face in the Daylight," by M. S. Crispis; and "Mister Cuckoo," by Jacob Camberlain.

NEW DUERRENMATT DRAMA

NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway is to inspect another drama by Friedrich Duerrenmatt, the Swiss author of the Lunts' current hit, "The Visit."

"The Deadly Game" is the title of the play, based upon Duerrenmatt's novelette, "Breakdown." A condensation of the mystery-melodrama was televised last December.

New Members Join Cub Pack; Awards Made

Father John Kennedy led the Pack in prayer to open the monthly meeting Thursday evening of the growing Cub Pack 109, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus. John Corrigan, district representative, spoke briefly, congratulating the pack on the large attendance of parents and the time and effort given by the leaders in preparation of the program. Also in attendance was Bob Riley, Neighborhood Commissioner.

All new members were semi-circled around the blue and yellow candlelights with the Cubmaster, Frank Kaufmann, who explained the meaning of the cub scout program. It was brought to light that in the word CUBS, C is for Courage, U is for Unity, B is for Bravery and S is for Service.

CONGRESSMAN CROCKETT

Although he is better known as a backwoodman and defender of the fort at Alamo, Davy Crockett was a member of Congress for six years.

COME BACK FOR THE OO-MING-MACK—The oo-ming-mack is no longer in danger of extermination. Better known as the musk ox (oo-ming-mack is the Eskimo word), the animal is on the increase in experimental herds in Alaska and Canada. A few years back, the much-hunted animal was believed to have found its last home in Greenland. Efforts to establish herds in northern Europe and Iceland have failed. One drawback remains. Neither the wool nor the meat have any commercial value.

Parents To Attend Conference At JHS

The MacMurray College experimental course in Jacksonville high school will be brought closer to the home life of students Monday evening when parents attend and participate in a discussion session with their sons and daughters. The session, directed by students, will take place from 7:30 to 9 o'clock in JHS study hall.

Jacksonville seniors, all of whom qualified for the course with superior intelligence, will talk on various philosophical subjects during the evening before parents enter into discussions. Attending also will be Dr. Leroy Garrett, MacMurray Assistant Professor of Philosophy who teaches the course, and President Louis W. Norris, who first proposed the course to the Lilly Endowment, Inc., several years ago.

Sponsored by Lilly Grant

Sponsored by a $36,000 grant by Lilly, the "Principles of Philosophy" course was begun in September, 1957, with 20 JHS seniors in class. A special second section has been added this year, for students whose achievement records have not been as correspondingly high as their IQ's.

Where Do "MIRACLE DRUGS" Come From?

They don't come out of a magician's hat but they sometimes do come from strange places. An East Indian snake root called Rauwolfia was once used widely in India for everything from treating epilepsy to making sleeping potions. Modern chemists then discovered its true therapeutic effectiveness. Now called Reserpine, it is widely used in lowering high blood pressure. This kind of exhaustive research keeps your doctor and our pharmacy well prepared to help you maintain your good health. Each prescription is filled with professional precision at our pharmacy.

Club Hears Chairman Of Lake Committee

The Public Affairs committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club presented an interesting program at the regular meeting on Thursday evening.

Miss Thelma Bacon, chairman, introduced John Linebaugh, chairman of the Lake Jacksonville Development Committee, who gave a talk on what has been done and what should be done.

He said the citizens of this city will remember the water situation in the 1930's; at again a few years ago, when it had only a normal supply of water for 120 days.

A vote was taken to run a pipeline to the Illinois River, and this was completed in a short time. Today the city has an ample supply of water.

Last year, a committee was appointed to look into the possibility of Lake Jacksonville as a recreational center. This committee spent much time in visiting other cities and lakes, to see just what could be done. Questionnaires were sent out to the citizens.

Some of the things suggested were: accessible roads, a beach, picnic grounds, wildlife sanctuary, leasing to clubs for recreation, a section for church and youth groups, and week-end cottages.

Since there was nothing in the city budget for this work at the time, this situation was brought to the business men and service clubs, who have either provided funds or equipment. At present there is a picnic grounds, several miles of newly constructed black-top roads, and lights have been put in the park. Young men have been busy clearing away the underbrush.

Mrs. Lucille Chandler sang "Through the Years" and "Thine Alone." Mrs. Katherine Ray was the accompanist.

Mrs. John Linebaugh was a guest of the club.

Miss Mildred Cruse was introduced as a new member. The next meeting will be in charge of the Membership Committee.

Some of the subjects discussed by the panel included:

Q: What has happened to our patient load during the past year?

A: For the fifth consecutive year, more patients were treated this year than the previous year:

In-Patients 1953 1956 1957 1958

Out-Patient 3038 5266 5948 6286

Visits ... 3787 9012 10713 12278

Daily Census 72 98 107 113

Q: Is this trend expected to continue?

A: The completion of the remodeling and construction program at Our Saviour's Hospital will no doubt relieve some of the demand for hospital beds in the area. ... but the advances in medical science, the increased coverage of hospitalization insurance, the aging of the population, the growing recognition of Jacksonville as a medical and hospital center will all continue to increase the need for hospital facilities and services.

Q: Has this increased operating costs?

A: The heavier patient load of course contributes to higher operating expenses, which rose from $887,398 in 1957 to $998,674 in the year ending September 30, 1958. ... chiefly because more patients require more people to care for them and payroll makes up about 67% of operating expenses. Hospitals are still struggling to catch up with industry with regard to salary levels, and because hospitals are mainly personal service institutions, leading authorities predict that hospital costs will continue to increase.

Q: What is the present number of employees and total payroll?

A: As of September 30, 1958, there were 231 full-time and 31 part-time employees—or the equivalent of about 245 full-time employees. This corresponds almost exactly with the State and U.S. averages of just slightly more than 200 employees per 100 patients in non-profit general hospitals. The total payroll for the fiscal year just ended was $669,074. Think what this means to the business and commerce in the Passavant area.

Q: How about income?

A: The increased occupancy of the hospital resulted in a net operating income during the past year which reached the million dollar level—$1,060,277. The increase in operating income just about kept pace with increased operating expenses.

Q: What about endowments?

A: As of October 31, 1958, the balance in the hospital's Endowment Fund was $82,000.00.

Q: Is our endowment large enough?

A: No. Actual need—10% of operating costs—over $2,500,000.

Q: What can we do to increase it?

A: One of the specific objectives of the "Passavant Former Trustees Club," which was organized in 1957, is to promote the growth of the hospital endowment. Trustees, Governors, and all friends of the hospital can help in this matter by suggesting gifts and bequests to Passavant Hospital. It has been said before, but it is none-the-less true that the real measure of a person's life is not what he has earned or accumulated, but what he has given!

Q: How is our School of Nursing Building Fund coming?

A: Of the $400,649.00 pledged, $158,678 has been received in cash. Payments are generally coming in as scheduled.

Q: When will construction start?

A: The plans and specifications have been completed, and bids will be opened on Wednesday, Dec. 3, 1958. Construction will begin as soon as possible after a contract is let.

Q: What are the responsibilities of a member of the Board of Governors?

A: As stated in the hospital Constitution and By-Laws, the Board of Governors has the following duties: (1) Elect the Board of Trustees. (2) Make recommendations to the Board of Trustees pertaining to the business of the Passavant Area Hospital Association when deemed desirable. (3) Receive the annual, and on occasion special, reports of the Board of Trustees and Hospital officials.

"As I See Passavant"

Ralph Minker, director of the recent successful school of nursing fund raising campaign, charged those present to "Take time to know and take time to say it" as we work together for Passavant.

Mr. Minker praised those who had banded together to see the hospital grow from a dream to a reality. "It takes work and fellowship of all of us to keep the hospital going forward," he said. Minker concluded his remarks, "As I See Passavant," with the view that the hospital could only be, "Conceived in faith and dedicated to the proposition that everyone in this community should have adequate hospital facilities."

PTA Association Hears Report On Magazine Study

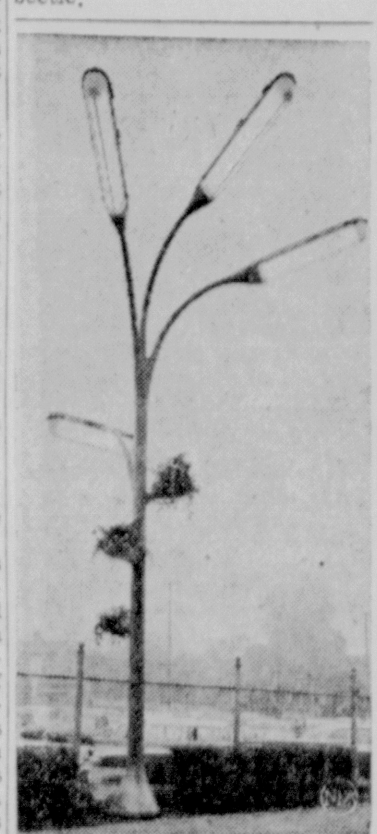

The Jacksonville Area Council of Parent-Teacher Associations met at 9:30 Wednesday morning at Lincoln School with Mrs. Ernest Chumley presiding. Reports were received from Mr. Russell Vernon, acting secretary, and Mrs. H. A. Anderson, secretary.

Mrs. Chumley reported briefly on the District Fall Conference held on October 28 at Murrayville. Individual units were advised that P.T.A. funds were to be used always to benefit all children within the school. In a progress report on the matter of undesirable publications now available on public newsstands to school-age children, it was pointed out that concerted community effort may offer a solution to this situation.

It was announced that Mr. Paul Blakeman would serve as co-chairman with Mr. Jewell Mann on the legislative committee of the council. In this capacity Mr. Mann emphasized the statewide need for study of school financing in view of the known future increases in school enrollment. Tentative plans are now being made for a local discussion of this serious problem. Units are urged to watch for further announcements concerning this event.

The next meeting of the council will be held on January 21.

ELECTRONIC FLOWERS—Resembling some strange plant, or a modernistic desk lamp, 70 of these specially designed light poles have been put into operation along Chicago's famed State Street. Each standard supports four 6-foot luminaires, each containing six fluorescent tubes. Built into the base of every pole is a radio receiver for electronic light control. The poles are made by Union Metal Mfg. Co. of Canton, Ohio.

M. Sgt. Davie Ragland Fears Mother More Than Generals

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—M. Sgt. Davie Ragland of the Marine Corps fears his mother more than he does generals.

She's threatened to retire him from the corps.

"I put my foot down once before," Mrs. Maurice Ragland said. "That's when she hid his uniform and bugle."

Davie, only 5, is freckled and tow-headed. He's wiped out several tribes of Indians in his neighborhood and claims to be the bravest Marine around.

Last January, Davie was about to undergo major urethral surgery. He wanted to go into battle as a Marine. Marines at Cherry Point, N.C., provided him a small uniform and made him an honorary master sergeant.

The surgery was a success. But Davie's rank went to his head.

One home, he used his honorary recruiters' card to sign up all the neighborhood children for hitches in the corps.

"We thought it was cute," Mrs. Ragland said. So she and her husband bought Davie a bugle.

For two months the Raglands played Marines.

"We'd wake to Davie playing reveille. We went to bed with Davie playing taps. We ate to cow call."

Then Davie went too far. "I scolded him one day," the mother said. "He listened quietly. When I finished he looked at me and said: 'At ease.'"

War was declared. The bugle disappeared. The uniform was packed away.

Civilian life was hard on Davie. Tears often came when he recalled life as a Marine.

Fellow Marines came to his rescue.

Last week a huge birthday card arrived from Cherry Point.

It was three feet high and two feet wide, reminding Davie that Nov. 10 was the 173rd birthday of the corps.

Esprit de corps overwhelmed Davie. He joined up again.

He couldn't find his uniform or bugle. So he decided to be a drummer—a Marine drummer.

He brought out an old beaten drum from his toybox.

Sighed Mrs. Ragland wearily: "I guess we're headed for another showdown."

Tranquilizers May Cure Those Problem Children

By JERRY BENNETT

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Tran-

quilizers may provide teachers with a cure for one of their biggest headaches—the problem child.

This encouraging outlook for perpetually blissful classrooms is the result of recent medical reports concerning the effects of happiness pills on certain types of emotionally disturbed children.

These are kids with mental troubles which cause them to be so nervous, tense or belligerent that they constantly cause trouble in class or flunk all their school work.

After taking tranquilizers, however, many of these youngsters calmed down to the extent that they developed a real interest in their studies and started making better grades. Others, whose conduct had tempted teachers to start swallowing pills themselves, suddenly decided to behave.

In fact, it's reported that officials of one school have become so sold on the rehabilitative merits of the drugs that they have made tranquilizer treatment one of the requirements for letting expelled kids return to class.

Most doctors, however, are far from being this enthusiastic about labeling the drugs as a classroom cure-all. First, they point out that there is relatively little known about how tranquilizers actually work and why they don't have the same effect on everybody who takes them.

For instance, they explain that a few of the noisy kids, who are mentioned in the reports, got worse after swallowing the drugs.

Thus, they believe that it's wrong to say that tranquilizers will always boost learning ability. In fact, a few doctors are afraid happy pills might dull the senses so much that kids who take them might grow up with a "don't give a damn" attitude about everything.

As a final argument they point out that most tranquilizer studies have been made for only short periods of time. They explain that long range, highly detailed studies must be completed before the pros and cons of using the drugs on children can be fully determined.

The Public Health Service's National Institute of Mental Health has recently started such projects at Nebraska's Psychiatric Institute in Omaha and at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Md.

Both studies are concerned with pinpointing the actual effects of tranquilizers on an emotionally disturbed child's learning ability.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP)—Butcher hog prices made a good recovery on the two final trading days this week although supplies for the five-day period were the second largest of the year.

At the bottom of the setback on Wednesday, the average price for all barrows and gilts was $17.48 a hundredweight, the lowest of the year. As offerings declined and No. 1 grade animals became scarce, buyers became active and competitive bidders. By the close of trading Friday most of the losses had been regained.

Barrows and gilts finished the week mostly 25 cents lower with some steady.

Wholesale pork prices sagged as much as $4 a hundredweight, taking loins to a new low for the year.

Prices of slaughter steers firmed up after Monday's heavy rain and closed the week about steady with a week ago.

The cattle supply was about 10 percent less than last week's but about half the offerings arrived on Monday while Wednesday's run was the smallest since July 2.

About 75 percent of the supply was slaughter steers which included a smaller percentage of choice and prime grades but a higher percentage of the good grade.

Slaughter lambs prices hit their lowest levels of the year on declines of as much as $1 for the week on both woolled and shorn offerings, although the supply was well below the previous week. Offerings of slaughter ewes were rather limited, however, and prices of that class held steady.

CHICAGO (AP) — (USDA) — Following is a summary of the hog, cattle and sheep markets for the week with estimated receipts for Saturday.

Hogs 100: barrows and gilts steady. At the close a 45-head lot of closely sorted No. 1 and 2's reached 19.25 with numerous sales No. 1 to 3 mixed grades 19.00-20.00 lbs. at 18.75-19.00. U.S. No. 2 and 3 mixed grades 200-235 lb. weights bulked at 18.25-18.50. No. 2 and 3 bulked 240-280 lb. weights brought 17.75-18.25 with heavier weights ranging downward to 17.35 for No. 3 around 300 lbs. Sows weighing 330-550 lbs. closed at 15.25-17.00.

Cattle 100: slaughter steers closed practically steady after recovering most of the price ground lost early in the week. Fully 15 loads prime stockers and feeders 900-1350 lb. slaughter steers 28.10-28.50, early bulk choice and prime steers 26.00-27.75, late bulk 25.50-28.00, weights 1150 lbs. down largely 26.50 up, high choice and prime 1450-1600 lb. beefs 26.50-28.00, comparable grade 1250-1350 lb. steers 26.50-27.50, good steers 24.00-26.50 according to weight, mixed choice and prime heifers 27.25-27.60, bulk good to high choice heifers 25.00-27.00, some mixed standard and good heifers 24.50-24.85, few high commercial and standard cows 21.00-22.50, utility and commercial cows 17.50-20.50, canners and cutters 15.00-18.00, utility and commercial bulls 22.50-23.25, cutter bulls down to 21.00, good over 1400 lb. fat bulls 22.00-23.00. Late sales good vealers 29.00-32.00, utility and standard grades 19.00-28.00.

Sheep none; both woolled and shorn slaughter lambs are fully 1.00 lower; slaughter ewe prices steady. New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's climb to new peaks ran into some stubborn resistance this week with the result that on average the list was down for the first time in four weeks.

The decline was moderate and would not have occurred if the trading week ended at the close on Thursday. Unfortunately for the bullish forces, the Friday session was conclusive, erasing a sizeable gain thus far and establishing a new low.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 70 cents to $205.90.

Despite an almost continuous pressure of profit taking, the AP average moved to record peaks on two sessions, Monday and Tuesday when it stood at the historic high of $217.70. On this session, however, neither the Dow Jones industrial average nor Standard & Poor's 30-stock index improved enough to top their record highs reached on Monday. The chief reason for this was that the AP average did not happen to include Norfolk & Western railway which dropped 4 1/2.

The fall in that stock followed a day-to-day advance apparently in anticipation of news that it was talking merger with Virginia Railway Transports "sold on the street" taking their profits.

The outstanding piece of Wall Street news was that a federal district court judge had banned the proposed merger of Youngstown Sheet & Tube with Bethlehem Steel. This shook down Youngstown a scattering of points and dropped Bethlehem for a moderate loss. When this news came on Thursday it unsettled the entire ing the largest percentage in accordance with membership to attend the two banquets, the Springfield one being held in Winchester. It is hoped that there will be 100% attendance of the local club giving it the trophy.

Mrs. Gerald Wisdom, social chairman, thanked the Raymond Herrings for the hayride and Wiener roast held in October at their home.

The main business of the evening was the appointment of Mrs. Charles Marshall as chairman of the Twentieth District Junior Spring Banquet on April 29. Announcement was made that a committee meeting will be held Dec. 1 at the Marshall home for the following women who will head the respective committees: Mrs. Russell Stevens, decorations and prizes; Mrs. Everett McGlasson, building and food; Mrs. Dan Lashmet, reservations; Mrs. Albert Hainsturth, Jr., program; Mrs. Bob Coultas, hostesses; and Miss Eck Cunningham, registration.

Other business included the decision of the club to hold a variety show in the near future. Mrs. Earl Boston and Mrs. Edie Evans, ways and means committee women will make further plans to be announced later.

The Girl Scouts will receive aid from members of the club who will help those girls who need assistance in earning badges in pottery, first aid, nature, fine arts, and photography. Mrs. Robert Arbuckle offered to work with the Scouts on the pottery field and Mrs. R. Coultas will give first aid instructions. The other fields will be announced at a later time.

Mrs. Carol Moore won the dinner for the evening. It will be remembered that the club voted last month to draw at each meeting for a person there to receive a free dinner.

There were four guests attending the Thursday evening meeting, Mrs. Jim Moore, Mrs. Fred Evans, Mrs. Henry Kruger, and Mrs. Jack Renfro.

Word was received Saturday of the birth of Lance Roderick Farmer that morning to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farmer of Decatur. The boy who was born at Decatur Macon County Hospital has paternal grandparents, the John Farmers of Winchester, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Carter, formerly of Manchester now of Decatur.

Mrs. Stanley Hamilton of Panama arrived Thursday evening because of the illness of her father, Dr. R. R. Jones. Mrs. Hamilton talked to her mother Wednesday evening and flew to St. Louis and was in Winchester Thursday for dinner.

Master Sergeant and Mrs. Allen Wood and two daughters, Caroline and Irene, are visiting the Claude Wisdoms en route to Massachusetts where he will be stationed after Dec. 1. The Wisdoms have spent the past two years in France.

The Orin Duncans spent Saturday in St. Louis. Mr. Duncan attended the Auto Show while Mrs. Duncan attended the St. Louis performance of "Sunrise at Camobello," the story of the life of F. D. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Melvin Dalhaus and Mr. Addison Scott chaperoned at the Youth Center following the Junior play Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall West and two sons are visiting her parents, the Henry Corries, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Redshaw and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Brackett left Saturday for a vacation in Arizona, California, and Mexico.

Mrs. William McLaughlin and Mrs. Angus MacKenzie were in St. Louis Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Doyle are spending the weekend with their son and family, the Pat DoYLES who are stationed near Dayton, Ohio. The DoYLES have a new daughter born recently which the grandparents plan to meet for the first time.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Balcom of Washington, D.C. arrived Friday to attend funeral services for his mother, Mrs. Josephine Balcom, who passed away Friday.

Others from out of town attending the services were Martin Hutchens of Jacksonville, Julian Hutchens, White Hall, G. K. Hutchens of Carrollton, Mrs. Jack Klader and Mrs. Wilbur Cordes of Wood River, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Yates of Peoria and Mrs. Oma Null of St. Louis.

TOO MUCH HULA HOOPING CAUSES YOUTH'S DEATH
SHIZUOKA, Japan (AP) — Last Wednesday night Yusaku Fukushima, 17, came home with a report he had twisted a hula hoop around himself 500 times. He said he had a headache. He died Thursday night. Doctors said Saturday death was due to a ruptured blood vessel in the brain caused by too much hula hooping.

IT'S CROP WEEK IN MORGAN COUNTY

There are many hungry people in the world, declared the Morgan county leaders of the Christian Rural Overseas Program as the annual CROP drive is held during Thanksgiving Week.

The officers this year are, from left, Gilbert Todd, Jacksonville, treasurer; Mrs. Hobart Rigg, Jacksonville, secretary; Roy Smith, Woodsoh, president, and Robert Kircher, Concord, vice president.

Workers from all sections of the county met at the Central Christian church Friday evening to make final plans for this year's campaign. The money received will go to the purchase of surplus foods to be distributed abroad by representatives of Christian churches.

This year's harvest reached an all-time high in Morgan county, the workers pointed out, and they said they felt the people would be exceptionally willing to share their bounty with less fortunate people of the world.

THESE MEN will be among those who will solicit their friends and neighbors this week for contributions to CROP. Standing, from left, they are Russell Wynn, Lynnville; Henry Mason, Lynnville; Roscoe Mawson, Jacksonville; Louis S. Smith, Franklin; and Charles Randall, Franklin. Seated are Edward Farmer, Ashland; Ward Petefish, Ashland; Richard Norfleet, Alexander; and Richard Petefish, Alexander.

AND SO WILL these men: Seated, Howard Scott, Franklin; Lowell Wells, Franklin; Guy T. Seymour, Franklin; Russell Lucas, Waverly. Standing are Roy Schone, Chapin; Louis Boddy, Jacksonville; and Tom Lucas, Waverly.

Believe Berlin Crisis Meant Syracuse Trips W. Virginia For Bowl Berth, 15-12

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
There's more than meets the eye in the crisis over Berlin. Perhaps by the time it simmers down—and the Russians will be calling the shots—the West once again will be blinking with astonishment at some new and significant Communist world victory.

As it did several times before, the Berlin situation has the look of a diversion, and an important one. This time the Middle East may be involved.

Like the offshore Chinese isle in the Pacific, Berlin is readily available at any time the Communists need a crisis, either to cover up some internal development or to serve as a smoke screen for thrusts elsewhere on the world stage. Perhaps it could be both at the same time.

As in the case of the Formosa Strait, the Communists have the initiative in Berlin. The sudden appearance of an extremely dangerous situation either in the Formosa Strait or in Germany must be judged from the standpoint of Communist timing. Peiping and Moscow together or separately, can turn these two crises on and off as they choose.

Berlin's situation existed for a long time. Why, then, a crisis now?

On the basis of past experience, Berlin's crises are steamed up deliberately. The first big one came in 1948 and lasted 11 nervous months. Stalin manufactured it. When the clamor died away, the world suddenly realized the Red revolution was all but ended in China. Chiang Kai-shek had been chased from the mainland,

Diplomats, Army Men Confer On Berlin Crisis

The proposal for limited dealing with the East Germans came under study after the Russians indicated they would hand over control of air, highway and rail links to East Germany.

If the Western Allies refused to accept these controls, they would be confronted by a virtual blockade of their West Berlin military garrisons, isolated 110 miles deep in East Germany and encircled by 22 Russian divisions.

The Allies, therefore, began mulling over the idea that the East Germans could be dealt with only as "agents of the Soviet Union." The Brenno briefing indicated the Bonn government does not regard this as feasible or advisable.

If the East Germans began harassing West Berlin lifelines, the West might be pressured into negotiating with the East Germans. This would amount to practical recognition. The West has refused to recognize East Germany, so as to avoid dashing the liberation hopes of 17 million East Germans.

The Russians have made it clear the West will have to deal directly with the East Germans. The report showed record high loan impoundings of wheat, corn and soybeans but none were up to trade expectations.

The report was expected by some dealers to show at least a half billion bushels of wheat already in the loan with the figure expected to run as much as 600 million by the expiration of the application period.

Instead, only about 454 million bushels had gone into the loan while producers were redeeming 11 million.

At the end of the week, the outlook as viewed by the trade generally was that prices will be held within narrow ranges until there is a considerably broader demand or until there are more certain indications that supplies will lighten up suddenly.

Clov is Hamm's partner, antagonist in the game; in bondage, he wants to "quit playing," he wants it "to end." Idiot and servitor, he speaks a clearer truth than the learned Hamm.

His halting, hampered struggles through the debris of the stage, his desire for escape, his occasional attempt to achieve something of order, his fleeting wish to sing, are infinitely painful.

James Symons, senior from Jacksonville, played Hamm, and Alan Engle, senior from Chicago, Clov. The confused, shifting symbolism of the roles required careful interpretation, quick changes of mood, and great versatility from the young actors, who brought to their parts an experience and insight not often exhibited on the undergraduate stage.

But Hamm and Clov are men, not men; Nagg and Nell are the real people in the play. Repulsive in their unnatural whiteness, toothless and foolish, they have been, in Clov's words, "bonny once," they have been young, in love, engaged; they have vacationed in Italy and Switzerland. Now useless and discarded, they emerge at intervals from their ashcans, Nagg to whine for nourishment or to bang on Nell's can to awake her, Nell to answer as far as her tiredness will permit the demands of her husband.

Glenn Perry, freshman from New York played Nagg with the weak forcefulness of an old man who retains in his ruin some semblance of masculinity; while Olive Brown, senior from Providence, Rhode Island, gave her Nell the stamp of a faded femininity, frivolity and even a quiet little shred of dignity in resignation.

It took courage to choose "Endgame" for production, imagination to direct it, ingenuity to set the stage, costume the players, and provide the sound accompaniment. It also took on the part of the actors, a great deal of physical endurance: Hamm's immobilization; Clov's lameness; most of all, Nagg's and Nell's three-hour crouch in their ashcans.

All this came through to the audience, who suffered with the players. The point at which an audience exhausts its sympathy and lapses into tedium is a matter of controversy. Controversial too is the subject of the play and the technique of its author, who like many twentieth century writers, has rejected the traditional obligation of the artist to make a coherent selection and has tumbled out instead a mass of unsorted material. But about the production of the play there can be no argument; it was an admirable performance, attested by the absorbed attention of the audience.

The Mountaineers took the next kickoff and stormed 73 yards to score in 10 plays, cutting the margin to 8-6. Quarterback Dick Longfellow sneaked over for the last yard. Fullback Glen Shamblin was stopped short on a run attempt for conversion.

In the second period, Syracuse guard Maury Youmans caught a Longfellow pass on the Mountaineer 23. On the next play, Zimmerman passed to Baker for a touchdown.

SETBACK WIPES OUT MOST GAINS MADE EARLY IN WEEK

By GIL MAYO
AP Business News Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—One broad general setback in the grain futures market this week virtually unraveled the bullish trend of the first three days and left prices on the board of trade little changed from a week ago.

Most of the net gains still left on Friday were in corn and all were in small fractions except the December old and new type contracts which ranged out to almost two cents a bushel. The new crop wheat and nearby oats deliveries were the only other gainers for the week, also only by small fractions.

The brake which derailed the upward trend was the Department of Agriculture report on the volume of grains and soybeans that had gone into the government price support loan as of Oct. 31. So far as wheat, particularly, was concerned it was disappointing and viewed by some major brokers as decidedly bearish.

The report showed record high loan impoundings of wheat, corn and soybeans but none were up to trade expectations.

The report was expected by some dealers to show at least a half billion bushels of wheat already in the loan with the figure expected to run as much as 600 million by the expiration of the application period.

REJECTS PROPOSAL
VIENNA (AP) — The International Rowing Association (FISA) Saturday rejected a French proposal to carry out rowing championships of men and women at the same place and at the same time.

Swiss delegate Dr. Walter, informants said, painted a dark picture of "promiscuity" threatening such championships. He called attention to skiing where he claimed "men and girl skiers do not only ski together and train together but also sleep in the same mountain huts."

"Let's keep our sport pure," he exclaimed.

The delegates from 43 countries then voted to hold the 1959 European rowing championships for men Aug. 14-16 and for women Aug. 20-23. Both championships will be held in Acon on the Saona River, France.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Frank Leahy started it off. "Have you seen Harry Wright's team?" the Master wanted to know. We were sitting in the pleasant confines of the New York Athletic Club but the subject intrigued us enough to hazard a trip to Long Island, where Wright operates at the United States Merchant Marine Academy these days.

Harry the Horse Wright, for the newcomers, was Leahy's first quarterback at Notre Dame in 1941. When Leahy went along with the mass switch to the modern T with man in motion in '42, Angelo Bertelli lined up behind the center and Wright, the ND box blocker, continued to call signals from a guard position.

From Notre Dame, Wright moved to Aquinas High, a schoolboy powerhouse in Rochester. There was a brief interlude at Portland, Ore., University and then five years with Wally Butts at Georgia.

Here is a fellow whose affiliations always have been with high-pressure football. Now Wright works with 17 and 18-year-old kids at the Merchant Marine Academy, and like all coaches stepping down out of the win-or-lose group he seems to be enjoying it immensely.

UNTIL WRIGHT TOOK OVER this fall, Kings Point, as the institution on the former Chrysler estate at Great Neck is known, had won just one game — and that by only one point — in three years. Combating such as Hamilton, C. W. Post, Rensselaer Poly, Wagner, Rochester, Upsala, Union, Trenton State and Hofstra, the Mariners had not copied a decision in two campaigns. Under Wright this autumn, they won five of the first eight.

It was hard picturing Wright, who was used to worrying about such as Auburn and Georgia Tech while drilling hand-picked material, teaching counter plays to youngsters who came to school with something more than football in mind. It seemed strange to hear him say that he was worried about Hofstra, against which Kings Point completes its most successful season in 13 on Nov. 26.

Wright promises to turn Kings Point — enrollment 740 — into one of the more attractive so-called small colleges in the nation for schoolboy football talent. The Academy graduates young men with a bachelor of science degree, the rank of ensign in the Naval Reserve and as a third officer in the merchant marine at $10,000 a year.

WRIGHT RETIRED FROM coaching to sell insurance around his Hempstead, Long Island, home, but when the Kings Point opening bobbed up he looked into the situation and couldn't believe his eyes.

"He gave us ideas, too," says Cmdr. James W. Liebertz, head of the department of Physical Training and Athletics. Just as in the cases of the other services academies, this place has to be sold.

The Merchant Marine Academy could be one of those football sleepers which was lying around waiting for somebody to pick it up.

"Wright has a genius for imaginative football," says Frank Leahy. To back this opinion, the Master hired Wright as an assistant before doctors told him he could not accept the spot at Texas A. and M.

Given a little time under Harry Wright, Kings Point could be a terror in its class . . . and looking for bigger game.

The Air Force Academy came on rapidly, plays Army in 1958 Navy in '60. The set-up is there for the Merchant Marine Academy to be the fourth big service football power.

IBSSS Places Second In First Mat Contest

The I.B.S.S.S. Warriors managed to slip past the Kentucky School for the Blind and capture second place in a triangular wrestling meet held on the local mat. Indiana School for the Blind walked off with top honors as they amassed 102 points and allowing Illinois 67 and Kentucky 63.

The Hoosiers took six first places leaving only five to be shared by their foes. The Warriors had only two firsts, each going to a local Jacksonville lad. Nick Weems took top honors in the 127 lb. class and Bill Wright won at heavyweight. Points Scored:

Indiana School for the Blind 102
Illinois Braille and Sight-Saving School 67
Kentucky School for the Blind 63

Division Winners:
95 lb., 1st, Niece (Ind.); 2nd, sonville.

Roegge Honored By Crusaders, Named MVP

VALPARAISO, Ind. — (Special) — Veteran center Max Roegge of Jacksonville, Ill., the 1958 Valparaiso university football captain, was named Most Valuable Player for the season by his team-mates this week.

Roegge, who lettered at guard as a freshman, center and guard his sophomore year, and center last year, has been a rock on defense during his four Valparaiso seasons.

A serious hamstring injury has hobbled him all this season but it has not kept him out of action for any length of time.

The Crusader varsity team also named their All-Opponent team for the 1958 season. Every conference opponent was represented but none of the three non-league squads were nominated.

Butler drew the lion's share of the all-opponent positions with five players. St. Joseph's had two, and DePauw, Evansville, Indiana State, and Ball State, each drew a single position.

The opposition line included ends Ray Reimer (St. Joseph's) and Larry Gates (Evansville), tackles Ken Bates (St. Joseph's) and Emmet Stinaac (Indiana State), guards Paul Furnish (Butler) and Dick Vartanian (DePauw), and center Bob White (Butler).

Three backs were from Butler, quarterback John Moses, halfback Keith Oilar, and fullback Kent Stewart, and the fourth post went to Ball State's halfback, Tim Brown.

Most Valuable Back nominated by the Crusaders will be revealed at the team banquet on Thursday evening.

Roegge, a former JHS stalwart in football, started his career in 1951 in a contest at Pittsfield and wound up his brilliant college tenure in Detroit, Michigan, last Saturday. Counting his high school and college games, Max participated in 70 games. The Crusaders won six and lost three this past season and outscored their opponents by over 100 points.

Complete Plans For Illinois Valley Tourney

CARROLLTON — The final arrangements for the first Illinois Valley Basketball Tournament were made at a meeting of coaches, principals and superintendents of the schools in the Illinois Valley Conference Wednesday at the Colonial Room of Day's Cafe. The tournament will be held at White Hall December 26, 27, 29 and 30 and the Pro-Soph tournament will be held at Roodhouse January 26, 27, 28 and 29.

Also Wednesday evening the championship trophy in football was presented to Roodhouse and second place to Carrollton.

Richard Adair, principal of the Hardin high school and president of the conference, presided. The next meeting of the group will be at the Colonial Room on March

Four Crimson Lettermen Bolster Cage Outlook

Jacksonville High's hard, untalented prospects are brightened with the return of four Crimson lettermen plus Dave Allison, who earned a letter last year at Burlington, the state champs of Iowa.

Allison gives coach John Chapman additional height to work with. The former JHS freshman-sophomore stands 6'4". The Crimson mentor, who is starting his 10th year as head basketball coach, has veterans Dave Bone, 6-6", and Jim Keller, 6-4", back to round out his rebounding power.

Bone could be a real asset to the team this season providing he hits the stride he's capable of in the early games. For the past two seasons he's hit his peak around mid-season and then tapered off. He possesses a fine jump shot and more than holds his own under the boards. A pre-season ankle injury slowed him up last year but he could be the backbone of this year's unit.

The Crimson's lacked a real floor general last year but this problem could be solved in veteran Merritt Norvell, Norvell, who was more or less a flighty ball player up till this football season, could be the spark Jacksonville needs. He proved he could think and be cool-headed in guiding JHS to another undefeated grid season.

Mike Hudson may land the other guard position if football injuries don't slow him up. Hudson could be the long out-shooter Chapman is looking for as he has hit with regularity for the junior varsity aggregation.

Jim Keller displayed flashes of coming into his own in several contests last season. Although he's slow as far as speed is concerned, Keller can give opposing teams a real battle for board control. Pictured above from left to right, coach John Chapman, Mike Hudson, Merritt Norvell and assistant coach Bob Kraushaar.

Back row, Jim Keller, Dave Allison and Dave Bone. Most of the players on this year's roster played together in grade school.

Illini Cagers To Stage Annual Intersquad Tilt

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Illinois' 1958-59 basketball team goes on public review for the first time at 8 p.m. Tuesday, when Coach Harry Combs stages his annual intersquad contest in George Huff gymnasium. A game between picked freshman teams will precede at 6:30 o'clock.

Tickets for the doubleheader will be available at the gymnasium, price 50 cents.

Anticipated duel between Illinois' two tall sophomore centers probably won't materialize. Vern Altemeyer, 6-8, Scottsburg, Ind., suffered a sprained ankle in practice and probably will see only limited service, if any.

John Wessels, 6-7, Rockford (West), will start at center for one of the two clubs, and opposition probably will be furnished by 6-5 junior, Ed Perry, Salem.

Gov. Vaughn, 6-3 junior from Edwardsville, who played center last season, has been moved to forward for 1958-59. Fans are anxious to see him in the new spot, in which he is already being heralded as a potential All-American.

Vaughn's high school running mate, 6-2 Marnie Jackson has been moved from forward to guard, where he joins Capt. Roger Taylor 6-0, Park Forest (Rich) senior, on the probable number one unit.

M-State Seeks Third Cross Country Crown

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Host team Michigan State will try for its third meet victory of the year in the 20th annual NCAA cross country run here Monday.

The Spartans already have taken the Big Ten and ICAA titles and have won the national run six times more than any other school.

Noire Dame is defending team champion and strong bids also are expected from Iowa, Kansas, Army, Houston and Drake.

A total of 19 schools have entered full teams while some 17 others have individual runners entered.

The individual championship will be wide open. Max Truex of Southern California, who won last year in a record 19:12.3, won't be back since he has completed his eligibility.

The favorite is Iowa's Deacon Jones, who took the NCAA run in 1955 and was the Big Ten individual winner this year.

Schools with full teams entered include Army, Arkansas, Central Michigan, Drake, Duke, Houston, Indiana, Iowa State, Iowa, Kansas, Miami, Michigan State, Minnesota, Notre Dame, Penn State, Syracuse, Texas, Western Michigan and Yale.

Those entering individual runners include Alfred, Belmont, Boston College, Buffalo, Chicago, Georgetown, Holy Cross, Idaho State, Kansas State, Marquette, Missouri, Ohio University, Oklahoma State, St. John's, Southern Methodist, Wabash and Wheaton.

Sooners Blast Nebraska, 40-7, For Loop Title

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — The superior manpower of the Oklahoma Sooners paid off with a 40-7 multiple — honored victory over the Nebraska Cornhuskers Saturday.

The triumph awarded the Sooners their 11th straight Big Eight Conference football championship trophy.

Coach Bud Wilkinson and a fifth trip to the Orange Bowl in Miami where they meet Syracuse Oklahoma also has gone through 71 Big Eight games without a defeat.

The Sooners zipped into a 21-0 lead the first three times it got the ball. But Nebraska settled into a stout defense and held the Sooners scoreless in the second quarter.

Oklahoma was on the march in the early minutes of the third quarter, but Nebraska halfback Larry Nix intercepted a pass by Jimmy Carpenter on the Nebraska seven-yard line and speared 93 yards for the Cornhuskers only touchdown. Nix outran Oklahoma defenders from the 50-yard line to the goal.

The Sooners' running and strategic passing kept Nebraska off balance and their defense was so stingy that the Cornhuskers were held to 80 yards rushing. Nebraska's passing hit only 4 of 12 for 27 yards.

As usual against Big Eight opponents, Oklahoma's 55+ player squad produced an avalanche of yardage, rolling up 447 yards in total offense. Of this, 354 yards came on the ground and 93 through the air.

Nebraska 0 0 7 0-7
Oklahoma 21 0 13 6-40

Unbeaten LSU Whips Punchless Tulane, 62-0

By ED TUNSTALL
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Halfback Billy Cannon spurred top-ranked Louisiana State into explosive action Saturday and the unbeaten Tigers crushed Tulane 62-0.

The Tigers practically clinched the national championship and sent LSU into the Sugar Bowl.

The 84,000 fans who turned out under brilliant skies set a record attendance for a Deep South football game.

The 205-pound Cannon considered a cinch for All-America honors, cranked a scoreless game with a touchdown late in the second quarter and the Tigers turned the traditional battle into a rout.

Quarterback Warren Rabb and running back Johnny Robinson gave Cannon a good run for individual honors.

Rabb passed for two touchdowns in the final quarter and Robinson rushed four times, once on a 73-yard touchdown run in the third quarter.

Cannon scored three touchdowns.

PERRY—L.S.D.'s unbeaten Tigers annexed their third straight hardcourt victory of the season by coming from behind here Saturday night to edge Conard Moore's Pioneers, 67-62.

It took an all-out second half drive on the part of the Tigers to gain their second PMSC victory in as many nights. Perry held the upper hand after the first and second quarters but L.S.D. grabbed the lead at the close of the third period and maintained it.

The loss was Perry's first in loop play and for the season in two starts. The Pioneers whipped Mercedia Friday night, 75-35.

A. C. Parish was the big gun for the winners as he tossed in 28 points while J. Thiele's 24 topped Perry's attack.

Badger Offense Halts Gophers Before 54.517

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A smorgasbord offense made it tick by quarterbacks Dale Hackbart and Sid Williams Saturday drove fifth-ranked Wisconsin to a 27-12 football triumph over Minnesota in the season finale for both teams.

The Badgers won second place in the Big Ten, their loftiest finish since 1952 when they tied Purdue for first.

A Camp Randall Stadium Dad's Day crowd of 54,517 watched Wisconsin's ever alert secondary intercept six Gopher passes, one short of its own Big Ten record for one game.

Wisconsin finished the campaign with a 7-1-1 record overall and a 5-1-1 edge in Big Ten play. The only team to beat the Badgers was the Big Ten champion, Iowa.

Minnesota, with a 2-6-1 slate for all games, wound up with one victory and 6 defeats.

Williams and Hackbart, alternating at quarterback, accounted for the Badgers' first two touchdowns. Williams went 20 yards in the first quarter to put Wisconsin ahead for keeps. Then Hackbart raced 7 yards for a 14-0 bulge in the second quarter.

Halfback Bob Zeman made it 27-0 in the third quarter with a 2-yard plunge that wrapped up a 74-yard drive.

The Gophers, 13-point underdogs, then unleashed the game's longest scoring thrust—a 77-yard pass play from quarterback Larry Johnson to end Dick Johnson—for his first touchdown.

Wisconsin responded with a long-distance TD tally of its own. Hackbart passing to Billy Hobbs for 44 yards.

Larry Johnson plucked 2 yards for Minnesota's second touchdown. Minnesota 0 0 6-12
Wisconsin 7 7 6-27

FARMER'S REQUEST
TRANQUILITY, N. J. (AP) — Robert Rusby wants to end fighting on earth for land he's deeded his 24 acres to God. But there have been some complications.

To be legal, the deed must be delivered in person and so far, said Rusby, this has been quite a problem.

The triumph allowed Michigan State to end a sad year on a note of uplift. The record of three victories, five losses and a tie was just a notch above the 3-6 record of 1954—Coach Duffy Daugherty's first and worst year.

The team and school also was shaken during the past week by widely publicized reports of feuding between Daugherty and Athletic Director Biggie Munn.

MSU President John A. Hannah issued a "harmony" statement expressing his confidences in both. And just before the game, the Athletic Council released a resolution that said, in effect, there would be no coach firings because of losses or "outside pressure."

Daugherty started an all-senior eleven. The upperclassmen, playing their last game, pushed in to score the first time they got the ball—the only time MSU has done this all season.

Williams and Hackbart, alternating at quarterback, accounted for the Badgers' first two touchdowns. Williams went 20 yards in the first quarter to put Wisconsin ahead for keeps. Then Hackbart raced 7 yards for a 14-0 bulge in the second quarter.

Halfback Bob Zeman made it 27-0 in the third quarter with a 2-yard plunge that wrapped up a 74-yard drive.

The Gophers, 13-point underdogs, then unleashed the game's longest scoring thrust—a 77-yard pass play from quarterback Larry Johnson to end Dick Johnson—for his first touchdown.

Wisconsin responded with a long-distance TD tally of its own. Hackbart passing to Billy Hobbs for 44 yards.

Larry Johnson plucked 2 yards for Minnesota's second touchdown. Minnesota 0 0 6-12

FARMER'S REQUEST
TRANQUILITY, N. J. (AP) — Robert Rusby wants to end fighting on earth for land he's deeded his 24 acres to God. But there have been some complications.

To be legal, the deed must be delivered in person and so far, said Rusby, this has been quite a problem.

The triumph allowed Michigan State to end a sad year on a note of uplift. The record of three victories, five losses and a tie was just a notch above the 3-6 record of 1954—Coach Duffy Daugherty's first and worst year.

The team and school also was shaken during the past week by widely publicized reports of feuding between Daugherty and Athletic Director Biggie Munn.

MSU President John A. Hannah issued a "harmony" statement expressing his confidences in both. And just before the game, the Athletic Council released a resolution that said, in effect, there would be no coach firings because of losses or "outside pressure."

Daugherty started an all-senior eleven. The upperclassmen, playing their last game, pushed in to score the first time they got the ball—the only time MSU has done this all season.

Routt Begins Hardcourt Activity Tuesday

With only one letterman lost from last season, Bob Winstead's Routt Rockets appear to be headed for a banner campaign when they kick the lid off their schedule Tuesday night at Mercedia.

This year's version is still a young ball club, there are only two seniors on the first 10, but the regulars gained a lot of valuable experience last season as freshmen and sophomores.

The club really hit its stride in the district and regional playoffs. Routt defeated Arenville for the District title but lost to New Berlin in the second game of the Jacksonville regional.

John Fitzpatrick, one of the veteran regulars, isn't pictured above as he is under a doctor's care for a week to two, John needs plenty of rest. Apparently he's suffering from "football fatigue," Denny Lewis is out for the season due to an eye ailment and he saw plenty of action last year although he didn't letter.

The Rockets tied for third in the conference standings and finished the '57-58 season with a 12 win, 15 loss mark. They also placed fourth in the PMBC conference after upsetting top-ranked Arenville in the tourney opener.

Freshmen can't letter at Routt but Fred Curtis was a starting guard and he was the team's playmaker, Jack Lawless, a freshman last year, also gained plenty of experience as a replacement.

The veterans pictured above from left to right, Fred Curtis, coach Bob Winstead and Jerry Bonjean. Back row, George Trutter, Tom Shanle and Mickey Walker.

The Rockets belong to the six-team PMSC conference, formerly known as the PMBC. Their opener with Mercedia is a conference game. Tom Shanle, who is the tallest man on the roster at 6-2, is reported to have improved by leaps and bounds. Shanle's biggest trouble last year was that he didn't shoot often enough. Winstead believes this problem has been solved as Shanle has been hitting with consistency on jump shots in practice.

George Trutter came on to do a tremendous job for the Rockets when the team hit its stride in the conference tourney. He had been the most consistent performer Winstead had prior to that time with his rebounding and all-around play. He's very adept on the screen and roll patterns.

Jerry Bonjean's return gives the Rockets added depth. Bonjean was forced to quit last year on the advice of his physician.

Routt's first home game is December 9 against Bill Hovey's New Berlin Pretzels.

TCU Nails Down Title In Slipping By Rice, 21-10

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Halfback Marvin Lasater turned a fumble recovery into a 58-yard touchdown run Saturday to spark methodical Texas Christian from behind to defeat Rice 21-10 and grab the Southwest Conference championship and a third trip in four years to the Cotton Bowl.

Two scouts from the Air Force Academy were among the 55,000 witnesses as Lasater grabbed a midair fumble on the first play of the second period and raced untouched for a tying touchdown after an alert Rice crew outplayed the favored Horned Frogs through most of the first period.

The next time TCU, the nation's No. 7 team, had the ball the Frogs drove 60 yards for a tie-breaker that clinched their eighth victory in nine starts.

A Rice victory would have pulled the Owls into a first place tie with TCU and postponed the title and Cotton Bowl showdown until next week's final games. With only Southern Methodist to play, TCU's 5-0 title record now leaves the Frogs with a two-game lead.

Rice took the opening kickoff and moved 70 yards for its score with quarterback Jon Schnable passing 21 yards to end Buddy Dial. Another 70-yard march with six minutes to play put them on the Frog 4-yard line, from where halfback Billy Bueck kicked a field goal.

TCU formed back, covered a short kickoff on its 44, and got its third score eight plays later as quarterback Larry Dawson passed five yards to end Jimmy Gilmore.

Fullback Jack Spikes got the tie-breaking score for the Frogs by ramming over from the 1 to end the 60-yard surge.

Texas Christian 0 14 0 7-21
Rice 7 0 0 3-10

Highlanders Run Into Whirlwind At Hannibal, 119-99

HANNIBAL, Mo. — A first half scoring barrage by Hannibal-LaGrange spoiled MacMurray's opening encounter of the campaign Saturday night as the hosts hit 61 per cent of their shots in the first half to coast to a 119-99 triumph.

The winners ended the game with a very remarkable shooting mark in their initial start by connecting on 48 per cent of their attempts.

Coach Bill Wall said "we played a terrible first half, in fact, we were very sloppy and an inept crew."

The Highlanders came back to score 60 points in the final half for some consolation to their coach but as he put it following the game, "we ran into a hail-storm tonight."

Gary Little, who became a bridegroom Saturday, led offensive laurels for the losers with 15 points, 11 of them coming at the charity lane. MacMurray's Harvey and Don Price each had 14 points.

The Box Score:

Local Swimmers Fail In Relays, Lose Opener

Jacksonville YMCA Swim Team traveled to Springfield, Saturday to splash against the Springfield YMCAs in the YWCA pool. This is the first in a series of swim meets of the 1958-59 season, which will include meets with Peoria, Decatur, Bloomington, Alton, and Granite City YMCAs. These meets are scheduled on a home and home basis.

The local lads held their own during the individual events, but failed to win any of the relays, thus going down to defeat, 134-84. Several spectacular times were registered which gives Coach Flower much encouragement in spite of the opening loss to a strong Springfield team.

Ronnie Yates, swimming this year as a Junior (Age 13:14) continued to turn in brilliant performances as he collected blue ribbons in the 40 yard freestyle, and 40 yard breaststroke events. Equally impressive times were turned in by David Middendorf and Steve Bone. Middendorf captured first place in the Junior Individual Medley and Bone, swimming as a first year Prep (Age 11-12), breezed to a win in the 20 yard breaststroke. Steve was 1958 State champion in the Midget breaststroke event. Blue ribbons were also brought home by Bill Boston in the Intermediate (Age 15-17) 40 yard freestyle, and by Eddie Bagale in the Prep 20 yard freestyle.

The 1958-59 Jacksonville YMCA Swim Team schedule is as follows:

Nov. 22, Springfield (Away)
Dec. 13, Decatur (Home)
Jan. 10, Peoria (Away)
Jan. 17, Bloomington (Away)
Jan. 24, Alton (Home)
Feb. 7, Springfield (Home)

To Give Ducks Seized In Raids To Institutions

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — About 2,200 ducks seized in market-hunting raids the past year will be distributed Monday to charitable organizations in Illinois.

State Conservation Department officials will assist the U. S. Department of the Interior in distributing the ducks for Thanksgiving to various groups, many of them children's homes.

The move was ordered by Federal Judge Omer Poos of the Southern District Court in Springfield.

Institutions at Beardstown, Decatur, Marysville, Jacksonville, Hillsboro, Litchfield, Quincy, Rock Island and Springfield will receive the birds, which have been in frozen storage in Springfield.

The ducks are part of more than 5,000 purchased by a federal agency posing as a buyer to trap market hunters in the state. Over 3,000 more will be passed out for the Christmas holidays.

A court order is required to make them available, since they are used as evidence in market-hunting cases. As quickly as the court hears the cases the ducks are released.

Audience Suffers Through, Enjoys 'Endgame' At I.C.

Director Lee Morgan and his Illinois College Hilltop Players presented Samuel Beckett's symbolic play "Endgame" Friday and Saturday, Nov. 21-22.

"Endgame," experimental rather than commercial theater, presents a world in which time is zero; nature is dead; humanity is dying. Four characters, Hamm, protagonist of the play; Clov, his servant; Nagg and Nell, Hamm's parents, are shut within Hamm's "shelter" of walls.

Hamm is Man, blind, unable to stand or to walk, uneasy if moved from his "place in the center," pitiful and cruel, hating his "progenitors," Nagg and Nell, yet screaming to his Father in childish terror of the darkness, covering the terror with sophistication and ceremony, mingling prayers and profanity, polishing phrases and fabricating tales to keep back the darkness, sardonically aware of what he is doing, finally at the end of the game summoning enough resolution to throw away the weak cards on which he has counted: his gaff, his toy dog, his whistle.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

Farmers voting in the Corn Referendum on Nov. 25 may have much influence on future farm legislation by Congress.

Suppose that a substantial majority of farmers vote for Program No. 1. This is the program that would eliminate acreage allotments and provide price support for all corn at not less than $1.12 to $1.15 in 1959, and probably 2 to 5 cents less in 1960.

A strong vote for this program would probably be interpreted by Congress as a vote of "no confidence" in acreage controls for feed crops. Opponents of restrictions could say that corn producers, after 25 years of experience and experiment with controls, voted to end them. Congress would be unlikely to restore acreage restrictions on corn, or to impose them on other feed crops or soybeans.

But suppose that a majority of the farmers vote for Program No.

2. This program would continue the acreage allotment program that has been in effect in recent years. The national corn acreage allotment would be about 15 per cent smaller in 1959 than in 1958. Many individual farm allotments would probably be reduced more, but some might be cut less or not at all. Price support at $1.24 to $1.27 a bushel would be available for corn produced under allotments in 1959 and at about the same rate in later years.

If farmers vote for allotments, it appears likely that there would be no price support for corn grown outside of allotments. The Department has said that "It is not planned to continue supports on corn not in compliance with acreage allotments."

It is true that somewhat similar statements have been made in recent years. However, the wording of and the circumstances surrounding this statement lead us to believe that price support would not be made available for corn produced outside of allotments, if farmers vote to keep them in effect in 1959.

Because of the small allotments and relatively low price support under this program, compliance would be small. It would be a very weak price support program. In fact, some farmers may vote for it because it would be the nearest to no program that is offered.

But if this program is approved by a large majority of farmers, Congress may conclude that corn growers want restrictions, even though the program possible under existing law would be practically inoperative. Congress then might well enact new legislation providing for tighter controls on corn, and for companion controls on soybeans, oats, barley and sorghum grain.

In any event, Congress seems certain to revise farm legislation within a year or two. Congressmen from Maine to California will be watching to see how farmers vote on Nov. 25. What they see will exert a strong influence upon future farm legislation. Farmers should remember that when they vote for or against acreage allotments on Nov. 25, L. H. Simerl, Department of Agricultural Economics

1958 MAY SEE RECORD USE OF FERTILIZERS

URBANA—Illinois farmers used about 15 per cent more commercial plant food from January through June this year than in the same period in 1957.

L. T. Kurtz, University of Illinois agronomist, reports that 1958 may prove to be a record year for plant food application if fertilizer use is also high in the fall. Fertilizer use hit a previous peak in 1953. The figure then dropped and has not changed much in the past five years.

Kurtz says annual use of mixed fertilizer in Illinois amounts to about 500,000 tons. About the same amount of rock phosphate is spread. Some 155,000 tons of nitrogen materials, 80,000 tons of soluble phosphates and a like amount of potash materials are also spread. Annual fertilizer use in Illinois, not including limestone, totals about a million and a half tons.

More intensive cropping has steadily increased the use of nitrogen fertilizers, according to Kurtz. Soluble phosphates have also climbed steadily. Today's commercial fertilizers also contain a higher average plant food analysis than common mixed fertilizers of 10 years ago. Kurtz says the analysis average has increased by half since 1947.

Sales Are High

Sales of animal health products during the year reached a near record high, totaling $694,035. This is a 19.77 percent increase over the previous year. Net income was $146,826. Distribution of this net income was distributed as follows:

$140,439.75 in patronage dividends, $3,500 in dividend on Class A preferred stock, and $1,493.44 in federal income tax.

Entertains Night Unit

Mrs. Mildred Bailey was hostess to the members of the White Hall Night Unit of the Home Bureau on Thursday night. Mrs. Jack Harp, unit chairman, presided and the lesson on Civil Defense was given by Miss Avis Nichols. The selected subject was cake decorating, demonstrated by Mrs. C. L. Drake of the White Hall Day Unit and Mrs. Harold Blake, and a beautifully decorated cake was won by Mrs. Russell DeVault.

Officers for the coming year were elected and included Mrs. James Martin and Mrs. Virginia Dawdy, co-chairmen, Mrs. Norman Bechtel, vice chairman, secretary-treasurer, Miss Avis Nichols. Editorial Comment

Why The Sudden Surprise?

Some of the recent notions expressed by high officials on the matter of defense trends must seem as much puzzling as comforting to the ordinary American citizen.

Take for instance the comments of Secretary of Defense McElroy on the occasion of his return from a long tour of Asia and the Middle East.

He said the United States has to step up its capacity to fight limited wars, particularly in fringe areas accessible only by sea and air.

What is hard to grasp is why this seems to come to the government now as a relatively new idea. Ever since Korea we've all been aware of the danger of the so-called brush-fire wars that could not reasonably be settled by resort to massive retaliatory weapons.

McElroy made it plain the new interest in military power to meet small-scale Communist harassments stems from our experiences in the Lebanon and Formosa situations this year. Reliance on stoutly maintained sea and air communications was obviously vital.

Yet one cannot help wondering why these experiences were necessary to drive the lesson home. The Reds have long showed a ready disposition to probe into fringe area soft spots.

It was likewise a little disconcerting to hear the way in which it was suggested it might be time for us to re-appraise our use of the intermediate range ballistic missile.

We are now considering a production slash in these weapons, in favor of the longer-range intercontinental missiles.

McElroy said the ICBM's are coming along faster than expected, and also that IRBM bases planned on Allied soil are vulnerable to Soviet assault. Economy enters the picture, too, since we are anxious to avoid piling one weapons system upon another unless it is crucial to our defense.

But, of course, the European bases, over which there has been so much furor abroad, have always been vulnerable. And with urgency introduced as the result of Soviet progress on intercontinental weapons, for some time there has been a pretty fair prospect we'd get our ICBM's into production sooner than originally thought.

The ideas seem sensible enough. Yet perhaps it's fair to suggest that we might have come by them a lot sooner.

Good Aid Objective

Even the dedicated opponents of continued U.S. foreign aid can find some comfort in the things President Eisenhower said in his recent Seattle speech.

Mr. Eisenhower of course favors continuance of aid to the Asian countries, whether or not they are members of the so-called Colombo plan for regional Asian development.

But while he would not either shut off or markedly diminish such assistance, as opponents of aid would wish, he did state a clear objective which suggested that aid need not be indefinite.

That goal, he said, is to permit the free lands of Asia to develop a pace of economic progress "which will make it possible for them to go forward in self-reliant growth."

The key phrase is "self-reliant growth." For he plainly envisions a time when these countries will have sufficient momentum to go ahead on their own. This is a goal eminently to be desired both by them and by us.

We want them strong—and independent. Independent enough to stand on their own, and ward off the twin threats of poverty at home and Communist aggression from abroad.

Another cheering aspect of the President's talk is that he intends to propose new, detailed means by which private investment rather than public enterprise may be encouraged to take over more and more of the burden in underdeveloped lands.

Many sources in America, including some of our top business research organizations, are coming forward with new ideas in this field. It would be one of the most heartening events of the postwar era if ways could be found to stir heavy private investment in foreign, especially Asiatic, development projects.

Mr. Eisenhower has sounded some constructive notes that could tend to unify attitudes in America on the subject of foreign aid. But the final test, naturally, will be in the detailed proposals he is yet to make.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Robert Young's set had broken early but he said he would have to hurry through lunch to get back on time.

What's this? The man is not only the star of "Father Knows Best" but owns a big chunk of the TV series. Still he was taking no chances about holding up production.

That's the kind of a guy Bob Young has always been. He recalled with awe the antics of another actor he once co-starred with, a notable rake.

"Every noon, he and some buddy of his would hop into a sports car and disappear for a couple of hours," Bob recalled. "When he came back to the set, he was a little unsteady. He spent the afternoon sipping from a large tumbler of vodka. About 5 o'clock, he'd have a conference with the director and then he'd be excused for the day."

There are no such shenanigans in television, I can assure you the Bob's show, for example, is turned out in a brisk three days. Some times the schedule is stretched to five days — "and then there's back to pay."

"When you're dealing with kids, you sometimes have delays," he explained. "We still have one of them in school, and that means that he can't work three hours of the working day. And the kids must quit at 6, while we often shoot until 8 or later."

Bob said it was not unusual to get 35 set-ups — different camera angles — a day in TV, compared to five or six on a major picture. This doesn't bother him a bit.

"I had the best training in the world," he said. "When I was at MGM, I spent my early days doing one 16-day picture after another. In one year, I did seven of them."

Bob was this year's winner of the best-actor Emmy from the TV Academy. I asked if it had any effect on his career.

"I don't think so," he said. "In pictures, you can immediately raise your asking price for the next picture. But in TV, you're stuck in a series, and that's that. There's no telling whether the award has improved your standing."

Matter of FACT

The world's highest dam is the Mauvoisin, on the Dranse River in Switzerland. It was completed in the fall of 1957. The dam is an arch type, of concrete, 780 feet high. The dam was built to supply power. Hoover Dam, on the Colorado River, between Arizona and Nevada, at 726 feet, is the second highest water barrier.

Robert Ricks In Bell Ringer Choral Group

WHITE HALL — Robert Ricks, son of Mrs. Ruth Ricks of this city, was one of the eleven bell ringers who participated in the dedication of the Claudia Page Smith Memorial handbells at Eureka College, Eureka, Ill., on Nov. 20.

The dedication of the bells took place during the regular weekly Chapel Service and the dedicatory selection by the handbell choir was a suite of three hymn-tune preludes, "Hyfrydol," "Stuttgart," and "St. Catherine." In addition, the bells and organ played the prelude "Communion" by Purvis, and accompanied the Chapel Choir on the anthem, "Eternal Father" by Hoist.

Mr. George Grandon, instructor in music and religion, and director of the Chapel Choir, delivered the sermon on the subject, "The Mystery and Meaning of Music." The Eureka Handbell Choir was organized by its director, Mrs. Royal Humbert of the college music faculty, upon the arrival of the bells from the White chapel foundry in England. The choir has already rung numbers for several college and community events.

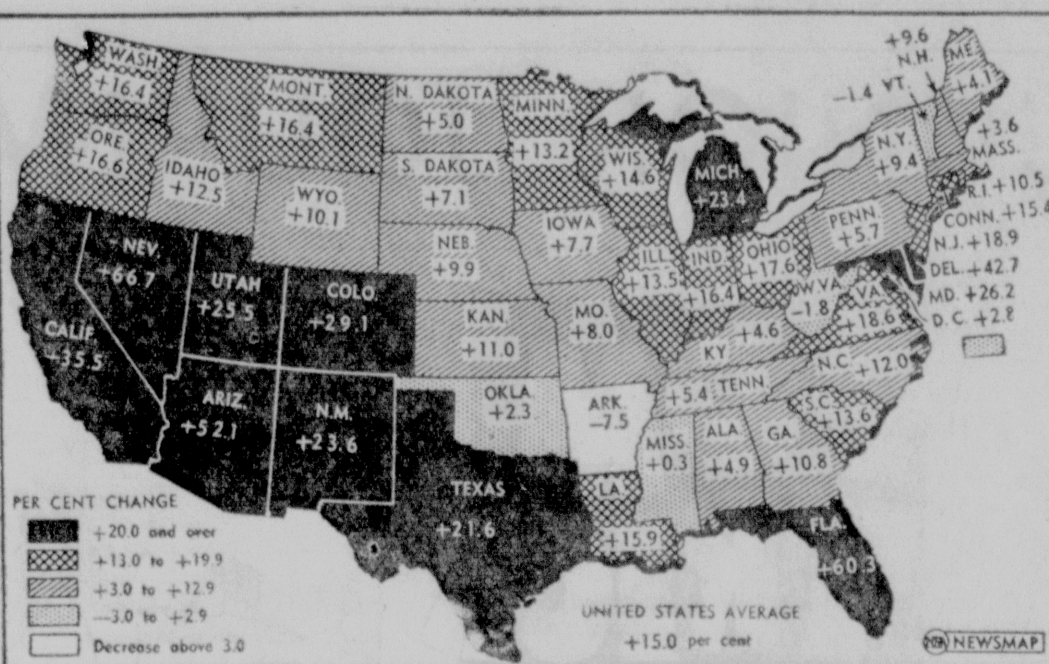

Bell also of Jerseyville who will give a lecture concerning Comparisons of World Religions.

The program will be presented by Mrs. Kenneth Ross, chairman of the literature department. Hostesses will be Mrs. Richard Hamann, Miss Nita Ford, Mrs. Charles Fry, Mrs. Francis Geers, Mrs. Richard Giller, Mrs. Neal Gillingham, Mrs. Marmion Gimmy, Mrs. George Green, Mrs. Herbert Harr, Mrs. Charles Hartman, Mrs. Pauline Hawley, Mrs. Marion Hildebrandt, Mrs. William Hopkins and Mrs. William Hobson.

The program Wednesday evening was presented by Mrs. James Day of the education department and the hostesses were Mrs. George Daniels, Mrs. R. H. Clannahan, Mrs. Dean Clough, Mrs. H. M. Combrink, Mrs. Frank Daniels, Mrs. James Day, Mrs. Madeline Dickey, Mrs. Delbert Driver, Mrs. Meda Dowdall, Miss Helen Duncan, Mrs. Ross Edwards, Mrs. Paul Penity and Mrs. Keith Flowers.

ACQUIRED BARKING

Barking seems to have been acquired by dogs since their domestication. Wolves and other members of the same family in the natural state growl, howl and make other characteristic noises, but they never produce sounds properly described as barking.

WEST LEADS POPULATION BOOM—The American is far from vanishing, according to latest figures released by the U.S. Census Bureau, covering the period from April, 1950 to July, 1958. As Newsmap above shows, every state but three registered increases, ranging from 3 per cent in Mississippi to 66.7 per cent in Nevada. (Data was not available for Alaska, but 1957 figures showed a 64.3 per cent increase.) Among the four major regions of the country, the West continued to show the greatest rate of growth—29.7 per cent—nearly double the national average. Other regions: North Central, 14.7 per cent; South, 14.1 per cent; Northeast, 9.0 per cent.

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE AMERICAN FAMILY

BACKBONE OF THE NATION—Charts show vital statistics of the more than 43 million families living within the boundaries of the United States in 1957. Almost two-thirds of these families lived in urban areas, communities with more than 2,500 population. The largest percentage consisted of two or three people. Two-fifths of the employed civilian family heads, numbering 35,600,000, were skilled or semiskilled workers. Data from National Industrial Conference Board.

Braille Students Give Carrollton Club Program

CARROLLTON — Miss Christine Uecker of Lena, Ill., Miss Ann Kauffman of Waukegan, Miss Alice Schmidt of Peoria and Miss Martha Johnson of Chicago, all students at the Illinois Braille and Sight Saving School in Jacksonville, presented a program Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Carrollton Woman's Club held in the American Legion hall.

The girls, who were accompanied by one of their teachers, Miss McGuire, demonstrated the use of the Braille typewriter and the use of the stylus and Miss Schmidt read several articles in Braille reading as swiftly and accurately as persons reading in the normal manner. The high school age young people completed their program with a group of vocal numbers.

Members of the club who were present Wednesday evening drew names of persons in the State Hospital in Jacksonville for whom they will be responsible in the sending of gifts at Christmas time, said gifts to be brought to the December 17 meeting of the club.

The December meeting will feature Dr. and Mrs. Fred Walter who will present the Wedding Dress Parade and Mrs. Clifford

How To Be A Weatherman

By Joseph A. Smith

Moisture and Humidity

If you've ever felt very uncomfortable on a hot, sticky, summer day it was very largely due to the excessive amount of moisture or water vapor in the air at that time.

With so high a degree of "Relative Humidity" the body can not perspire as readily; therefore, it can not cool off as easily, and you just "seem to cook".

The amount of moisture in the air from day to day and even from hour to hour will vary. The greater the amount of moisture in the air the greater the possibility of a storm.

Naturally, the time of year, temperature, and source of wind will largely determine the type of precipitation (snow, hail, rain, etc.).

Water vapor comes from evaporation where the water actually changes from a liquid to a gas. A visible example of this is the so-called "sun drawing" water.

The warmer the temperature of the air and water, the greater the amount of water vapor already in the air the greater the amount of evaporation.

Then again moisture will condense into a visible form (cloud) from a gas to a liquid when the air is cool enough.

The amount of moisture that the air will hold at any given time will depend very largely on its temperature, and at any given temperature the air can hold only so much water vapor.

Our weather man measures the amount of moisture in the air and compares it to the absolute or maximum amount that the air could hold at the temperatures at that particular time. He divides these two figures and comes up with a percentage or the "Relative Humidity".

Simple Device
We can build a simple but effective WET and DRY bulb device with two dime store thermometers, a small pill bottle or medicine vial, a rubber band, and a piece of muslin. (See picture.)

Mount one thermometer (the dry bulb one) on a piece of plywood, and beside it mount the second one with the bottle for this "Wet-bulb" thermometer. (See picture of "Wet-Bulb" set up.)

To find DEW-POINT we subtract the Wet-Bulb temperature from the dry bulb temperature. Next, multiply the difference of the two by a FACTOR from the factor table corresponding to the Dry-Bulb temperature. Lastly, subtract the resultant product from the dry-bulb temperature.

Example:
1) Present Temperature — 60°
2) Dry-Bulb Temperature — 50°
3) Difference — 10°

Puzzles

These will be simple for all you Einstein Jrs. but for the rest of us it's a bit more puzzling. Test your friends too for more fun.

Cut seven different sized discs from heavy-thick cardboard. Make the largest disc three inches in diameter, the next 2 and 3/4 inches in diameter, and each succeeding one a quarter of an inch smaller in diameter until the seventh and smallest will be 1/2 inch in diameter.

Punch a small hole in the center of each and color each disc a different color. Next cut out a nine inch long by two inches wide piece of wood. Hammer one nail in the exact center and two more nails three inches on each side of the center nail. Paint the board any color you wish.

Now the trick is, after you've placed all discs on the center nail with the largest on the bottom and the smallest on the top, to transfer all the discs to either of the outside nails so that they will be in the pyramid order as they were on the center nail.

One should be able to solve it in fifteen minutes. Can you?

Who Goes There?
"Placing the muzzle of his loaded shotgun over the window sill, Great-Grandfather called loudly, 'Who goes there?'"

"The figures stopped moving and clung to the dark shadow of the barn, but said nothing. 'Who goes there?' challenged Great-Grandfather. 'Who goes there?' he repeated. 'Answer me, or I'll shoot!'"

"A click sounded, snapping loud and clear into the cold night as Great-Grandfather drew back the hammer of his shotgun. Old Shep, still growling and crouched low to the ground, began to move slowly toward the figures now frozen to the side of the barn."

Don't Shoot
"Lawdy, Mass Young," a deep frightened groan came out. "Don't shoot! Don't shoot! Masa! Smith sent us! Don't shoot! Don't shoot!"

"Good Heavens!" murmured Great-Grandfather to his wife beside him. "It's a couple of slaves! Down Shep," he called to his dog. "It's all right. Down boy." Old Shep stopped moving toward the barn, though his deep growling did not stop.

"I'll be right down," Great-Grandfather called out through the cold night. "Go on into the barn." "Watching from the window the couple saw the two figures open the barn door and dart quickly inside, pulling the door closed behind them."

"What are you up to?" Great-Grandmother asked her husband as she watched him replace the safety catch on the shotgun, and begin to climb into his warm clothes.

Trouble Ahead?
"Ezra must have run into some trouble or he wouldn't have sent them on to me," mused Great-Grandfather, as he tied his high

Flower Of The Month —

November Choice

By Emma Mae Leonhard

When shall we run out of a "flower of the month" for our Jacksonville or Morgan County area? Some of our reader friends have asked us that question more than once, particularly when autumn and winter approach. We cannot literally answer that question, which also is beginning to test us.

However, should we really ever run out of a "flower of the month"? The world is full of beauty in many forms, if we are only observant enough to find it. Let us not cheat ourselves of that beauty, free for our choosing and lavish for our indulgence.

Now that November is here, we must choose again something different that speaks to us during this bridge between fall and winter. Last November we chose the Witch Hazel, the branches of which are again draped with those yellow blossoms dangling in tawny catkins like tiny wood shavings.

The preceding year we presented the Christmas fern, the fronds of which are still protruding in their healthy green from the carpet of brown fallen leaves. We are still enjoying both of those November gifts, but we are looking for something different again.

Unusual November
Luckily this year's November has been somewhat different; it has been autumn and summer and spring, all in one. Marigolds have continued to rival the chrysanthemums in their yellows, reds, and golds.

There have been dozens of the "last rose of summer." Violets have been blooming in some protected spots almost as profusely as those did last April; some have been peering out of a covering of red and yellow leaves. It is those leaves of autumn which we present to you as our choice of the flower of our 1958 November. The copper yellows of the maple trees have glowed in the startling sunshine of our warm October and early November days.

While they were still lighting up the shortening days of autumn, the oaks have joined them with their softened, not faded, mahogany reds and bronze browns, finally growing into a quiet tawny and earthy brownness. Hills hung like great tapestries. Single maples and oaks stood like great signposts of a different November.

Yes, our November has been an exciting one, three seasons in one, unlike any other November which we can remember. And we have enjoyed the warm sunny days and the autumn leaves rivaling the glow of the sunshine and the colors of the sunrises and the sunsets, haven't we? They will remain with us in happy memories during the cold gray days of winter.

Mystery Serial —

Muzzle-Loading Gun

By Loella Sloan Young

Synopsis: Daddy is telling Georgia and Billy of the old days when their Great-Grandfather helped slaves to escape to Canada as part of the so-called "underground railway". One night old Shep begins to bark after everyone is in bed.

Chapter 4: Mysterious Shadows
"When Great-Grandfather first heard Shep begin to bark," Daddy went on with his story, "he thought old Shep must have seen an opossum or a fox bothering around the chicken house. But as the growl grew louder and more threatening, Great-Grandfather slipped noiselessly from his bed."

"Moving cautiously so as not to make a sound, he made his way through the darkness to the dining room, where this same old shotgun hung on its pegs over the mantel of the fireplace. Quickly he lifted it down, checked it to see if it was loaded, and crept back to the bedroom."

"Great-Grandmother, had, by this time, slipped from her bed, tiptoed to the window, which she opened as quietly as possible, and stood staring down into the back yard. Old Shep was still crouching near the coal house door."

"The hair on his neck and down his back stood straight up. His growling became louder and louder, threatening to break into a bark any time, but still he did not move. He only stared out across the barn lot."

"A bright moon was shining down on the clean white snow. Great-Grandfather's eyes followed old Shep's. And there, in the shadow of the barn, he saw two figures moving stealthily toward the house."

Oldest Stamp In The World?

By Mabel Hall Goltra

Stamps of 1385 may be the oldest in the world.

A stamp collector in Italy has discovered what would be the world's oldest stamp. It is not a stamp as we know postage stamps of today, but rather an impression on a piece of paper—dated 1385 just 600 years ago.

A Venetian stamp dealer by the name of Giorgio Del Gian made the discovery after much research. He found it in the archives. The stamp bore the imprint of the Visconti family, former rulers of Milan, capital of the province of Milan.

The imprint is a picture of a snake and the initial "G" inside an oval. The G stands for "Galeazzo II" of the Visconti family. They claimed descent from King Desiderius, and the eleventh century possessed estates on Lake Como and Maggiore.

The stamp may be as old as researchers ever will find, believes Dal Gian. The use of paper in Europe still was quite new in the fourteenth century and the printing press was not yet developed.

Rare Postmark
From Tel Aviv comes word of a rare postmark—Sodom—the place where Lot's wife turned into a pillar of salt in the Bible story. In this case, the marks were made recently, when an Israeli postal unit established its office for one day only.

The reason for this special situation was the opening of the new "Potash road" from Beersheva via Kurnub across the Negev desert to the Dead Sea.

Sodom is at the southernmost tip of the Dead Sea.

THE REAL MCOOY
BALTIMORE — The U.S.S. fighting ship now moored in Baltimore harbor is historic and authentic to the 18th century.

Six warning signs around the deck, in presumably 18th century spelling, proclaim: "Stand Away From Siding."

THE MEDAKA

By Rip Barnsdall

The Medaka, or rice-paddy fish, is very common in Japan, China and Korea. It is often called the rice-paddy fish since it is to be found in the rice fields, which are covered with water.

Over-all body colors are a pale gold, with a light-colored body. The fins are clear. The eyes are a light green in color.

Adult Medakas reach a length just under two inches when fully grown. They are very peaceful fishes, and can adjust themselves to almost any situation.

Medakas are egg-layers. The female, instead of laying her eggs, carries them with her attached to the body as if they were glued. After they have been fertilized, the female brushes them off against plants, where they then hatch in about ten days. It is a very easy fish to breed in the aquarium.

The Medaka and the White Mountain Cloud Fish, since they originate in colder areas than most of our tropical fishes, can stand cool temperatures. For this

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

Since there's no atmosphere on the Moon, there can be no flying from place to place, but still you don't have to be restricted to ground travel alone.

You will be able to travel in ballistic rockets which will go in an arched path as missiles do here on only have to use their rockets to take off, but will also need to use them to soften their stop. As there is no air to support wings, there is also no air friction to help stop a rocket.

For very long trips these rockets will have to go into orbit around the Moon because the Moon's escape velocity is so much less than that of Earth that even the old V-2s could attain escape speed from the Moon.

Of course, this rocket travel will be very expensive so any body who isn't in a great hurry will travel by land. Since there is no air on the Moon, gasoline or Diesel engines such as we use on Earth would not work.

There are four types of engines that don't need air: 1. the rocket; 2. the atomic reactor; 3. solar power; and 4. the electric motor.

One trouble with rockets is that they cannot be made to move slowly which is needed for ground travel, especially for exploration. They are also difficult to steer and stop, and they would be almost as expensive as rocket flight.

Atomic reactors would be too large and too heavy for small vehicles even on the Moon (where things weigh about one-sixth what they do on Earth).

Solar power, although it would be quite light and would work better on the Moon than on Earth, would be useless at night.

Of course electric power could be stored in batteries from solar power from a stationary reactor, but dry-cell batteries need to be pressurized to work properly so they'd have to be kept in the cabin of the Moon car.

However, there are generators that will generate electricity without any need of air or water. One of these is the 2 stage hydrogen peroxide turbine.

(Next: Moon Car Motor.)

Unafraid Of Cold
When the silent, bitter-cold days of winter come, the Golden-crowned Kinglets remain with us, unafraid and undaunted. When the snow comes and covers the branches, they seem perfectly contented even below zero.

They fluff out their outer feathers and the thick layer of underfeathers until they look like little gray balls but they are comfortably warm. As long as they can find food, they will not freeze; their food is their winter fuel, much cleaner and cheaper than man's coal.

Where can you find these tiny kinglets? You don't have to go far. Look in woods or cemeteries, in the park and in town, or even in your own yard. Search especially in hemlock and spruce.

That thin wintry squeak, "see-see-see," comes from trees crackling by snow. Search them, and you will be rewarded by the sight of one of our most courageous tiny birds, the Golden-crowned Kinglet.

After the leaves have fallen and the trees are bare, these tiny miles of birds remain with us. They continue to squeak and to flit from branch to branch, or from shrub to shrub, frequently near the ground.

If you look at the Golden-crowned Kinglet carefully, you will see either an orange or a yellow crown bordered with black. Over its eye is a white stripe, and in its wing are two white bars. Otherwise, it is just a tiny somber olive-gray bird.

For that reason the Golden-crowned Kinglet is hard to find in the winter time. It is difficult to see among the thick branches of the evergreens through which it searches for the small insect eggs and sleeping insects hidden in the cracks of the bark of these trees. Very little escapes the sharp eyes and tiny beaks of these kinglets.

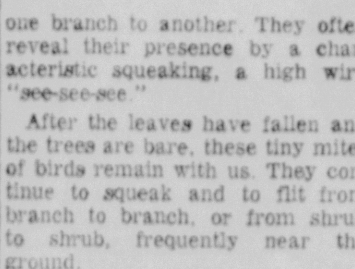

Unafraid Of Cold
When the silent, bitter-cold days of winter come, the Golden-crowned Kinglets remain with us, unafraid and undaunted. When the snow comes and covers the branches, they seem perfectly contented even below zero.

They fluff out their outer feathers and the thick layer of underfeathers until they look like little gray balls but they are comfortably warm. As long as they can find food, they will not freeze; their food is their winter fuel, much cleaner and cheaper than man's coal.

Where can you find these tiny kinglets? You don't have to go far. Look in woods or cemeteries, in the park and in town, or even in your own yard. Search especially in hemlock and spruce.

That thin wintry squeak, "see-see-see," comes from trees crackling by snow. Search them, and you will be rewarded by the sight of one of our most courageous tiny birds, the Golden-crowned Kinglet.

American Indians prized the lotus as a food.

one branch to another. They often reveal their presence by a characteristic squeaking, a high wily "see-see-see."

After the leaves have fallen and the trees are bare, these tiny miles of birds remain with us. They continue to squeak and to flit from branch to branch, or from shrub to shrub, frequently near the ground.

If you look at the Golden-crowned Kinglet carefully, you will see either an orange or a yellow crown bordered with black. Over its eye is a white stripe, and in its wing are two white bars. Otherwise, it is just a tiny somber olive-gray bird.

For that reason the Golden-crowned Kinglet is hard to find in the winter time. It is difficult to see among the thick branches of the evergreens through which it searches for the small insect eggs and sleeping insects hidden in the cracks of the bark of these trees. Very little escapes the sharp eyes and tiny beaks of these kinglets.

Tigers Roll In 2nd Half While Chapin's Attack Falters, 67-35

By STAN SPOTTS
A cold second half proved fatal for Glenn Ambler's Chapin Bears Friday night at the westend gymnasium as Jim Spink's Tigers clinched their second straight triumph of the season, 67-35.
The PMSC conference affair was Chapin's first outing of the campaign and for one quarter, the Bears were in the thick of the scrap.
But I.S.D.'s rebounding power and center Lou Edwards caught up with Chapin in the second period, which was the turning point in the game. Edwards hit 12 of his 16 points during this frame and he and Parish controlled the boards which set up many a fast break for the winners. Chapin found itself down by 11 points at halftime.
The Tigers had difficulty in locating the hoop in the first stanza and with Hannel's six points leading the way, Chapin was able to stay with the reboundless Tigers after eight minutes of play, 11-11.
Chapin's passing became erratic at times in the second period and ISD used a fast break, some rebounding and Edwards' 12 points to practically sew the verdict up.
The third quarter put the writing on the wall. The Bears scored seven of their nine points in a minute and 25 seconds of play to pull within 10 points of the leaders, 39-29. Two quick buckets by guard Bob Higdon in less than 10 seconds squelched any Bearcat hopes for making up the deficit. While the losers were going scoreless for the next three minutes and five seconds of play, ISD hit with consistency on layups to collect a 20-point lead after three periods, 51-31.

The final period was a nightmare for Chapin. They garnered only two points in the first four minutes and 44 seconds of play on a pair of charity tosses. Then with 3:15 left in the game, Surratt hit twice from the free-throw lane to end Chapin's scoring for the evening. A 16-point final period gave the Spinkmen their 82-point margin of victory.
A. C. Parish showed the way for I.S.D. in the scoring department by accounting for 21 tallies. Hannel's 11 paced Bearcat scoring. Three other Tigers, Bob Higdon, Lou Edwards and Andy Cherry hit for double-figures.

The House on the Beach

When she opened the door, he flew out in a torrent of dancing and barking, sniffing and jumping. He bounded up at her, raced to the bed, raced back, and then to the window. She followed him over and pushed the button, and he dashed out across the grass, pawing and throwing his head like a stallion. After 30 seconds the windows slid shut of their own accord.

Katherine thought: Nobody's been in here this morning. I can tell. If he had, they would have left him out. He would have snarled and scratched on the door, and at the same as he did when I came in. It wouldn't be particularly because they liked him—or wanted to be kind—but it would be automatic. When a dog scratches on a door, you always let him out.

She began pulling off her clothes, thinking: I'll look better—and feel better, too—when I put on fresh clothes, and wash myself, and comb my hair. She went into the bathroom and turned on the cold water, and at that moment it occurred to her for the first time why the house was so empty. Paul and Aunt Millicent had gone to church, too. Aunt Millicent was very religious. She'd probably made Paul look with her.

She was plunging her face into the cold water, when she thought also: There's another pair of glasses that belong to me. They're in Mother's bedside table. I saw them yesterday. I'll be able to see again.

And when she had gotten her face self-lubricated again—clean, at least, if still disfigured—she went back out into the hall.

Nothing had been touched. Her own glasses lay at the front of the dresser, she picked them up and put them on.

They frightened her afresh. The nearsighted blur she had been seeing since yesterday afternoon had offered their own protection. But now everything was horribly clear again—the frightening room, its evil more palpable than ever; the chest of drawers that contained Paul's engagement book; the clothes in the closet; the faint bedroom smell. The room was pressing in on her, gaining way.

She kept repeating over and over in her head: "I'm safe for an hour. I'm safe for an hour," and after a moment the fright began to chip away a little, and she thought with relief. Even if I'm not very brave, I can't go on being that frightened forever. It's got to go up and down. Or if it doesn't, I'll get accustomed to it after a while.

The hall was empty.

Now that she was out of Paul's room her confidence began to return a little.

She turned and went down the hall and across the living room toward the kitchen. She dreaded being scolded by Amy, or being babied. She could anticipate the questions she would be asked, and the fuss that would be made. Another time she might not have minded so much; but now she had no time for questions and fussings. The paper was the only important thing.

She opened the kitchen door and went inside, stealing herself as the radio voices swelled around her. Amy was patting out the dough for biscuits. She looked around, smiled wanly, and said, "Well, love, did you have a good rest this morning?"

"Yes."

"I just thought you needed your sleep—you looked something terrible last night, poor little thing—so I didn't disturb you."

"Where are Paul and Aunt Millicent?"

"Oh, they've gone to church. They left a long time ago. They asked me at breakfast if I'd seen you, but I told them you were still asleep, which was what you needed more than anything else, heaven knows. Are you hungry now, baby?"

"No."

"Well, we'll be having lunch before too long now. Let me see... I think I'll just run on down to your room and spread up the bed. Did you just now get up?"

Katherine said, "Yes," without thinking.

"Well, I'll bet you did have a good rest. Come here now and let me look at those bruises and things. I don't know how in the world you ever managed to do all that." Her affectionate fingers poked and prodded. "Well, I think you ought to get back in bed, myself. That's what I think."

"I don't want to get back in bed."

"But you look better than you did last night. And you got cleaned up for Sunday too." She surveyed the sun-st. "But why did you put on that little thing, love?"

"It's comfortable." Katherine squirmed away from her, eager to start her search.

"Well, I don't know what Dr. Treslove'll say when he comes over to see you this afternoon. But I guess it's all right. We won't worry about that, will we? Well, I'll go to your room, and then we'll have lunch as soon as they get back from church."

Still talking she went off to the other part of the house with her cleaning tools, leaving Katherine alone to think: They didn't tell her I was gone, but they knew it. They'd been in my room last night and found out that I wasn't there. They tried to find out if she knew where I was, or if I'd told her anything. I'm glad I didn't tell her anything; she might have told them what I said. I'm still safe for a little while, but the first thing to do is find the paper.

A Merry Christmas...

...safe from FIRE, too

TIME FOR SAFETY—Sparky, the "mascot" of the National Fire Protective Association, is busy making Christmas in American homes as well as merry this year. Some NFPA hints: Don't buy trees that have dried out, don't use lighted candles on Christmas trees, don't allow gift wrappings to accumulate in the home.

With The Girl Scouts

Leaders of the South Morgan Neighborhood met at the home of Mrs. C. A. Dawson, 335 Lake Street, on Thursday, November 20, at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Lyle Davis, chairman of the group, and Mrs. Dawson, who were the neighborhood chairman and in whose home the meeting was to have been held, had suffered an accident to her foot, and Mrs. Dawson very kindly offered her home at the last minute. The Scout leaders expressed their concern for Mrs. Davis and are hopeful that she will be quite recovered when the group next meets in January. Following the minutes, a nature exhibit was displayed and explained, and the leaders were urged to participate in something similar with their Scouts. Following a question and answer period, the group spent the rest of the meeting time in making a Christmas craft item.

On Nov. 19, the members of Girl Scout Troop No. 75, South Jacksonville school, presented a lovely box of fruit to the Loughry Nursing Home as a greeting at Thanksgiving time. Sharon Douglass and Lynn Colclasure decorated a box with green crepe paper and appropriate trimming. The girls selected the following committee to accompany their leader, Mrs. C. A. Dawson, to shop for the fruit and deliver it.
